How earnings are calculated

If you drive

Booking fee

Riders pay a booking fee to help cover safety, regulatory, and operational costs such as insurance.

Cancellations

In most instances, you'll receive a cancellation fee if a rider cancels a request.

If you deliver

Standard delivery fare

For each delivery, you earn flat amounts for pickup and dropoff and how far you travel. Time and traffic delays are factored into your fare.

For multiple orders

In addition to receiving the standard amount for pickup and distance, you earn for every drop

Promotions and how they work

In-app promotions based on where we expect the most ride requests in your area help you plan ahead and set goals to maximize earnings. Not all promotions are available to all drivers. See terms below.*

Reach a set number of trips

Earn extra money if you complete a set number of trips in a certain amount of time when the offer is available.

Example: earn $30 extra for completing 20 trips this week.

Drive during busy times

Get paid extra for trips in certain areas at busy times.

Example: earn an extra $6 for completing 3 trips in a row with the first trip starting downtown between 4pm and 6pm.

Ways to earn smarter

Get ahead with the app

The app has powerful features to help you make the most of your time on the road. From tracking trends to informing you of earning opportunities nearby, the app is your partner on the road.
